

ExCo application 2021 - 2025

Name: Martin Baloga

Titles: Ing. Arch., PhD.

Association: ZUUPS, Slovakia, chief

Motivation:

ECTP should get closer to the members first of all by exchanging experiences between the planners. Common experiences should help to prepare local National laws for planning, which should get closer to each other.

- By harmonizing the legislation we could improve the possibility for the planners to work and plan in any other member state.
- By applying the international experiences (best practice) we could improve the planning practice in member countries which could end in more effective planning of the cities and regions.

It is not necessary to prepare enormous number of different documents or to actively participate in preparation of national laws. ECTP should improve the communication between national associations, change of good practice and common cooperation on maybe pilot projects.

ExCo should prepare common concepts and themes for conventions – online or local and let the result be accessible for members. The main aim of the European Union is not only common market, but the will to live together. As for we have one land – One Europe – living close to each other, we should work on better neighbourhood by speaking common planning language.

My contribution is active work on international communication and preparing the best practice advices for planners.

Spozdravom/ Best regards/ Salutanta
